Dear Grower

My how time flies! It seems the harvest season is coming to an end all too soon? Looking back on our schedule for 2005, we are wrapping up our dehusking depots 2 weeks earlier than we did last season and the newsletter heralding almost the same news was distributed on 26 August 2005.

While it may seem to some of you that we are packing up for the year, the hardest work is still ahead for your processor. 2006 is proving to be a test of skills for the people entrusted with the sale of kernel from the yield of our harvest season. For our suppliers that have been in the macadamia industry for many years and witnessed the rise and fall of NIS prices before and for those who are relatively new to the industry, and experiencing the fall for the first time, we would like to assure you that Pacific Plantations holds a very good position in the current market and will always, as we have in the past, forge new paths into fresh markets for kernel sales.

NIS and NIH Receivals

Our receival depot on Friday Hut Road is now closed for the 2006 season. The Eureka facility, Park Properties, will take consignments up until Friday 29 September 2006. Please be aware that no deliveries will be accepted after this date. Call Sandra at the office to book your delivery on 6687 1472. Deliveries will not be accepted without prior notice.

Macadamia nut and oil orders

Christmas Nuts! We have enclosed a nut order form for you. Please fax, post or drop your completed form to the office at Friday Hut Road before Friday, 10 November. The fax number and postal address are on the form. This will enable our team to have your order completed in time before we close for the Christmas break. All orders must be collected from the Pacific Plantations office before Friday 17 November.

Once again, thank you for your support of Pacific Plantations,

Scott MacRae
